Stepping Up to Meet a Growing Need...
Prostate Cancer Today

- More people are living longer, and living well, with cancer. We also know more than ever how to successfully treat cancer.

- Prostate cancer is the most diagnosed cancer in men, more prevalent than breast cancer in women.

- Prostate cancer is being diagnosed far earlier than ever before.

- Prostate cancer can be very successfully treated when diagnosed early.

- There is a growing awareness that prostate cancer impacts the entire family, not just the patient. Family-care is also vitally important, along with patient care.

- Prostate cancer is an intergenerational disease, impacting grandfathers, fathers and sons. A close family member with prostate cancer increases your risk significantly.

- African American males have a prostate cancer incidence rate up to 60% higher than white males and double the mortality rate of white males. Every 100 minutes an African–American male is diagnosed with prostate cancer. Us TOO International’s multi–year project with the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) continues to successfully reach into the African–American population to bring awareness and hope.

- The Baby–Boom generation has impacted every trend since the late 1940’s. So it is with men's health. The “at–risk” population for prostate cancer is larger than ever before. Us TOO International is more relevant than ever, and we are stepping up to meet a growing need.

More than ever before, Us TOO is relevant and prepared...
We live in a time where the message of prostate cancer is reaching farther than ever before. While the “at risk” population is growing at a staggering rate, more men are being diagnosed early leading to more successful treatment. Men are living longer, and well, with prostate cancer.

The time for empowered patients and loved ones is here. Us TOO International’s global network of peer-led support is more relevant than ever... part of a volunteer movement. As we learn and help ourselves, we are also helping others.

At Us TOO’s inception, the founders looked to the breast cancer community for guidance, wanting to model their successful support, education, and awareness efforts. At every turn, the founders responded resoundingly, “Yes, as men, we also have these challenges, hopes and needs. As men, cancer affects Us TOO.” On the breast cancer community’s successful model, Us TOO was founded.

We are:
• founded on a proud history with peer support at our core
• survivors and warriors
• empowered men and women of action; as pink is to breast cancer, blue is to prostate cancer
• part of a volunteer support movement.

We are here to support you and your loved ones across the entire course of this disease and across the globe.

You are not alone.
A Message from Jim Kiefert

When I was diagnosed with prostate cancer at age 50 in 1989, my life changed dramatically. My doctor told me I had only a few years to live. Shortly afterwards, Us TOO International was born. Little did I know that my experience with prostate cancer and this organization would become so closely linked. Nor did I know I would have the opportunity to help so many others.

Now, seventeen years later, I am living well with prostate cancer. I am also fortunate to serve as Chairman of the Board of Directors and as a chapter leader, actively participating with my wife in our local chapter. Through my own learning I have empowered myself. By reaching out to others I can empower others too. This is at the heart of Us TOO International’s global chapter network.

Us TOO International continues to earn the respect of the prostate cancer community by focusing on our mission and upholding high standards for our Board and Staff. In 2006, we focused on stepping up to meet a substantially growing need. This year we made significant strides to:

- Expand our face-to-face reach by strengthening the support chapter network
- Broaden our funding opportunities and sources to better serve our long-term goals
- Strengthen our positive impact in the prostate cancer community.

What makes Us TOO International unique and gives this organization its strength is the independent network of prostate cancer education and support groups around the United States and in many foreign countries. We are all about people becoming empowered, then reaching out to help others, from our Board of Directors and regional directors, to our chapter leaders, and the growing Us TOO International staff.

The members of the Us TOO International Board of Directors bring a first-hand knowledge of the challenges presented by this disease. Two board members who were active and instrumental in our growth and development retired in 2006. Joe Piper and Russ Gould each served two terms on the board, and were recognized for their great contributions. One Board member, Jim Raby, from New Orleans, resigned from the Board following the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. We are grateful he remains the chair of the Minority and Underserved Populations committee. We salute their efforts and leadership, helping to set the course for this organization and holding us all accountable to the highest standard.

An unprecedented number of at-risk men face the reality of prostate cancer. We continue to step up our efforts, always providing the most timely and accurate support, education, and awareness to all who are touched by prostate cancer.

In 2006, Us TOO International stepped up to meet a growing need.
A Message from Thomas Kirk

Cancer affects all of us, and challenges, like cancer, cause us to learn and grow. This holds true for Us TOO international as we continue to take the lessons we learn and share them with others.

My wife often shares that her father was taken by prostate cancer when she was a young mother. Now her pressing concern is for her son and grandson. Her father sensed this and participated in a clinical trial to help future generations. Like Margaret’s father, what we do today can dramatically impact the future of prostate cancer for generations to come.

As I reflect on my second full year as the President and CEO for Us TOO International, I realize, more than ever, how timely, relevant and vitally important this organization is in our rapidly aging society. With the passage of time, the important things become clearer, both personally and as a society.

I am proud of the progress we made in 2006, and the momentum we have developed to address the growing number of people at risk for prostate cancer. I believe we are stepping up just in time as 77 million Baby Boomers reach the high risk ages of 40 through 60. Our efforts in 2006 helped to solidify our foundation, clarify our goals, and increase our impact—stepping up to meet a growing need.

Progress was evident this year as Us TOO International was able to add new chapters, reach the highest industry standards, launch new program efforts, form new collaborations and create new opportunities to support the Us TOO program and service efforts. During 2006, Us TOO International continued and deepened our collaborations with key partners, as well as preparing our first advocacy goals, affirming our commitment to bringing a strong united voice to the table.

I am continually amazed by, and deeply appreciative of, the unwavering commitment to the prostate cancer community. From the Us TOO International Board of Directors, our regional and local volunteer leadership and exceptional staff, countless individuals contribute their time, energy, expertise, compassion and resources to make Us TOO International a world-class organization.

Despite the size of an unprecedented at-risk population and the many challenges this disease presents, I am confident we are well on our way to meeting a growing need. Many challenges remain, yet we see the hopeful news that cancer death rates are declining and more people are living longer with cancer. The pages of this report bring to life the growing and necessary support of individuals, organizations and corporations, demonstrating all that is possible when we work together to help those impacted by prostate cancer today and tomorrow.

The Us TOO International peer support will continue to be here, thanks to you!

Thomas Kirk
President and CEO
Us TOO International
Several years ago, the Us TOO International Board responded to the growing awareness of special at-risk populations in which the incidence of prostate cancer is extraordinarily high, yet education and awareness has been disproportionately low. At that time, the Board set an intention to better serve these special at-risk populations. To facilitate this vision, Us TOO sought out new partnerships. As a result of a grant request to the CDC, Us TOO International was one of eight organizations to receive a partnership grant, along with other cancer organizations such as the Lance Armstrong Foundation.

Several years later, Us TOO International’s largest initiative and partnership is with the United States Government’s Federal Centers for Disease Control (CDC), reaching into previously underserved populations with prostate cancer-related support, education and awareness. This thriving program, which began in 2003, collaborates with regional and community organizations, and is administered by Us TOO International staff.

In 2006, Us TOO’s program for “Early Detection or Survivorship of Cancer in Underserved Populations Program” saw the completion of its third successful year and the beginning of its fourth year. The program, now working with 209 support organizations, trains community volunteers to educate people in their communities to make informed decisions on the detection, diagnosis and treatment of prostate cancer.

The program began with four pilot sites focused primarily on the African-American population. It has now expanded in 2006 to nineteen high incidence states and areas, now also reaching into the Native American population.

The reach of this multi-year partnership with the CDC is significant. To date, 169 volunteer facilitators have been trained, and are now serving as site coordinators and leaders in their communities. In addition, the program’s outreach efforts have touched nearly 100,000 people across the United States.

Several years later, the Board’s vision lives on.
Circles of Love

The Circles of Love Program, initially created in 2005, broadened its reach into another previously underserved population, the companions and family members of prostate cancer patients and survivors. We now know more than ever before the significant impact prostate cancer has on loved ones and the vital role they can play in the life of the patient and/or survivor.

In 2006, The Circles of Love continued to grow and receive broader use and acceptance particularly within Us TOO’s peer-to-peer chapter support network.

For example:
- Chapters began hosting events and on-going meetings for companions, spouses, partners and family members of prostate cancer patients.
- More and more individuals were finding the Circles of Love Care Kit and its individual components to be valuable additions to their prostate cancer tool kit.

Partner’s Guide

This new tool, created and released in 2006, along with an easily customizable toolkit for Us TOO Chapters, was designed to raise awareness about the importance of partners, spouses, companions, and family members supporting their men in their fight against the disease.

These materials, co-created by Us TOO and Y–ME National Breast Cancer Organization, further acknowledge the important role companions, spouses, family members and partners play in a man’s journey with prostate cancer. Strong partnerships create better results.

With a growing awareness that companion and family support is more than just a good idea, many are recognizing the link between:
- the vitally important role active and supportively involved family and friends can play in the over–all physical and emotional well–being of prostate cancer patients and survivors
- the link between better informed patients and a supportive partner or spouse
- the need to acknowledge and provide care for companions and family members, too

In 2006:
- A discussion guide for chapter leaders and individuals that corresponds to book, The Circles of Love Collection, was released with a kick–off teleconference hosted by Us TOO International’s Companion and Family Advisory Panel.
- The Partners Program Guide and related tools, co–produced with Y–ME National Breast Cancer Organization, was created and released.

From South Africa to South Carolina, the Circles of Love continues to thrive!

Special thanks to Abbott Oncology for project support.

A recent survey confirmed what has been common knowledge: women are far more proactive about health issues, particularly when it comes to getting a second opinion and researching different treatment options. We also know that men don’t want to face prostate cancer treatment choices alone, instead wanting their loved ones to help make these decisions.

Sadly, research shows that less than 50–percent of men diagnosed with prostate cancer got a second opinion. In addition, almost 32 percent never heard of hormone therapy, an important prostate cancer treatment. The statistics reveal a pressing need for prostate cancer information and education for both the patient and loved ones.

Us TOO/Y–ME Partner’s Guide was created in direct response to this information gap to fill a pressing need.

Us TOO International's Online Reach

Us TOO International's website makes the ‘International’ portion of our name an easy and daily reality, reaching those in South Africa as easily as those in South Dakota.

In 2006, Us TOO International's leading edge website experienced an increase of approximately 10% in its activity and usage over 2005. The actual statistics are quite impressive yet a sobering reflection of those actively seeking information and support.

Specifically, in 2006 Us TOO International's website experienced:
- 389,885 visits with an average of 1,068 visits a day, rising to 21,751 on the busiest single date, 12/19/06
- 3.9 million hits on files posted on the site
- 180,327 visitors, with an average of 2.16 minutes per visitor

The site includes valuable information pertaining to all phases of prostate disease, from the diagnostic phase to end-of-life support. The site also includes information on upcoming special events as well as transcripts and summaries of previous events or educational programs. Also readily accessible are downloadable booklets and materials on a broad variety of topics, including treatment options, side effects and solutions, emerging treatments, clinical trials. While designed primarily for patients and loved ones, there is also a section for medical professionals, and a special resource section for Us TOO's volunteer-led support chapter leaders.

Us TOO's online reach also includes regular email updates called Prostate Cancer NEWS You Can Use. These regular email updates from the President and CEO provide information on upcoming events, noteworthy advocacy opportunities as well as an assortment of timely articles about advancements in prostate cancer treatment and care.

Special thanks to TAP Pharmaceuticals for program support.

Prostate Pointers

Prostate Pointers, administered by Us TOO International, is one of the most active and popular prostate communities available online.

It features:
- 14 focused & moderated topical mailing lists
- an event calendar
- and links to thousands of physician as well as lay contributed web pages.

Prostate Pointers mailing lists provide community for numerous topics and groups:
- from newly diagnosed patients to loved ones
- from treatment related topics to spiritual support
- from healing through laughter to challenges presented by treatment side-effects.
Us TOO Materials and Publications

At Us TOO, we know information changes rapidly, especially information related to current treatments, medications, procedures and options. Each year, our staff reviews our materials to ensure they are still meaningful and helpful, accurate and timely, updating materials where necessary. In addition we are constantly making new materials available in electronic, downloadable format as well as printed format.

In 2006 we updated the very popular brochure:
- What You Need to Know for Better Bone Health

We also added:
- a downloadable discussion guide to accompany the Us TOO original book, The Circles of Love Collection—Stories of Companions and Family Members Facing Prostate Cancer.

Understanding that a large percentage of those seeking information do so on the Internet, all new publications are created both in print format and in electronic downloadable format.

Special thanks to Novartis Oncology for program support for educational material distribution.

Us TOO International’s Premiere Newsletter—the HotSheet

Us TOO’s premiere monthly newsletter, the HotSheet, highlights the latest articles on advances and emerging treatments. Over 20,000 copies of the HotSheet are mailed out every month from the Us TOO International home office.

The HotSheet is distributed free at chapter support group meetings, and is available in PDF format on the Us TOO website. Personal subscriptions are also available for those who are unable to attend local chapter meetings to get the latest issue, or for those who prefer an original copy delivered to their home or office.

Special thanks to AstraZeneca for project support.

Toll Free Prostate Cancer Help Line

Newly diagnosed and overwhelmed? Or do you just need someone to talk to who understands? Where can you go? Who do you call? Us TOO International has ready answers for both questions.

Certainly our chapter network supports people directly in a powerful way. But did you know there is also a friendly, knowledgeable voice on the line when you dial our toll-free Prostate Cancer Help Line?

Our help line receives hundreds of calls per year, responding to a large variety of questions and concerns.

As one caller exclaimed:

“I hung up the phone and wept with gratitude. A real person. A friendly voice. Incredible support. Thank you Us TOO!”
Us TOO International actively participated in several conferences throughout the United States, reaching out to like-minded organizations to bring awareness to our mission and form valuable partnerships. Our outreach to the medical community allowed Us TOO increased visibility and the opportunity to gather the latest prostate cancer information, which we communicated through our HotSheet newsletter, email NEWS You Can Use, as well as our website and other publications.

In 2006, we attended:

- UICC (International Union Against Cancer) – the result was the foundation of a new international collaboration called the Worldwide Prostate Cancer Coalition (WWPC), a group of leading prostate cancer groups from other countries dedicated to sharing information around the globe
- AUA (American Urological Association)
- ASCO (American Society of Clinical Oncology) – two separate events
- FCRE conference (Foundation for Cancer Research & Education)
  Providing advanced disease, general, and companion support groups each day throughout the conference.

New Advocacy Initiative

We know that individuals whose lives have been touched by prostate cancer can be the most effective public advocates on issues directly affecting prostate cancer patients and their loved ones. Those who have beaten prostate cancer can be an even more powerful voice in our fight!

In 2006, Us TOO International created a new advocacy effort designed to identify, enlist and support a national team of prostate cancer volunteer advocates from the core of men with prostate cancer, their friends and loved ones, and concerned others.

The specific goals of this new initiative include:

In Screening
- Clarify the screening environment
- Screening coverage for every state
- Encourage people to be screened

In Treatment
- More options for advanced care
- Research and reimbursement for better imaging

As part of this new initiative, Us TOO will keep the advocacy volunteers up to date on the status of current legislation directly impacting men with prostate cancer and their families. During 2006, the Us TOO Board of Directors affirmed the initiative to advocate for better access to new developing treatments for men with advanced prostate cancer. This initiative, Raise a Voice (RAV), is a collaboration between a growing number of prostate cancer organizations.

Every voice matters. Now voices can be more effectively raised together.

Special thanks to TAP Government Affairs and Abbott Oncology for project support.
Us TOO University Pilot Program in South Carolina

Nearly eighty motivated support group leaders gathered in Columbia, South Carolina, September 29–30 for a two-day educational event called Us TOO University. This new initiative further demonstrates Us TOO International’s unwavering commitment to the education and support of those on the front line of prostate cancer—Us TOO’s many volunteer support group leaders—as well as patients and their family members affected by the disease.

In keeping with Us TOO University’s motto, Learn. Laugh. Lead., participants were provided with timely and useful information, they had a terrific time, and returned home better prepared to confidently lead. Us TOO University was designed to equip Us TOO’s support group network for today and the future.

The “Us TOO U” event really featured two events in one: the full-day training workshop for volunteer chapter support group leaders held on Saturday and, on Friday evening, an educational symposium for patients featuring physicians and other health care professionals as well as vendor exhibits. The volunteer training workshop held on Saturday featured a wide variety of topics to give support group leaders the skills, tools and information to move confidently and successfully into the future, the curriculum featuring nine diverse sessions. In attendance were men and women, young and young-at-heart, medical professionals, and lay people too.

Special thanks for program support to Platinum sponsor sanofi-aventis, Gold sponsors AstraZeneca, Amgen Oncology and Novacea, Silver sponsors TAP Pharmaceuticals and USHIFU and Blue Ribbon sponsors Abbott Oncology, Endocare, Theragenics Corporation and Valera Pharmaceuticals.
Us TOO International Chapters

Us TOO support groups function as independent chapters, forming a global volunteer support and education network. Each chapter holds regular meetings for men living with prostate cancer and their families. The meetings provide unbiased information, led by volunteer leaders. Some chapters also invite guest speakers, experts in areas related to prostate cancer, including surgery, radiation, medications, nutrition, and psychology.

Chapter Support

Us TOO International created several new resources and programs to support chapter leaders and chapter members.

Circles of Love Discussion Guide was released in February. This tool, available in print or downloadable format, features details information and suggestions for preparing for, marketing, and hosting a companion and/or family event or on-going group.

Supporting Those Facing End of Life Issues: A one-hour program, delivered live at Us TOO University in late September, and via tele-conference in October, addressed this often-difficult but important topic. In addition, ten new downloadable resources are available for Chapter Leaders, such as: What is Hospice? Information on Advanced Directives, What is a Health Care Agent or Proxy?

Helpful Tips to Chapter Leaders: Twelve new downloadable “Tips” sheets are now available for chapter leaders. These include: Advocacy Opportunities, Increasing Chapter Attendance, Meeting Topic Suggestions, Chapter Resources & Outreach Activities.

New Bone Health PowerPoint and Talking Points: The Better Bone Health Brochure was recently updated and, to correspond with its release, a downloadable PowerPoint presentation and Chapter Leader Talking Points are now available.

Chapter Profiles

As examples of the work done by many chapters, we have highlighted two chapters. Our thanks go out to all!

South Austin, Texas

The Us TOO South Austin, Texas Chapter, led by Mike Jones, has joined forces with Marketing Majors (students) from the local university to spread awareness of prostate cancer through a campaign designed to catch the attention of women. “Be His Reason” linked to the Us TOO logo is the key tagline developed by the group and is coupled with one of three key catch phases:

- If you’re his better half, than half of you is at risk!
- He can ignore the risk, but it won’t ignore your husband!
- Your husband wouldn’t let you forget an oil change. Return the favor!

These catchy slogans are printed on paper tissue rolls that cover exam tables in gynecologist offices as well as printed on flyers and posters that are displayed at places such as women-only gyms like Curves.

Greenville, South Carolina

The Us TOO Harvey Floyd Chapter of Greenville, SC, in partnership with Greenville Urology, held a "Men's Health Educational Forum" June 5th from 6:30pm–9:30pm. This community outreach program was designed to educate everyone on the evolution of early detection and the treatment of prostate cancer. The program also featured a discussion of new technologies in the treatment of post-cancer therapy problems such as erectile dysfunction and incontinence.

The 2006 Run, Walk ‘n Roll had quite a different look in its sophomore year, with new faces doing their part in the fight against prostate cancer.

In 2005, this event began as a collaborative local effort in a northwest Chicago suburb between the Don Johnson chapter, the Wellness Place and the Us TOO International home office. This year, the event moved to downtown Chicago and became known as the Greater Chicago Prostate Cancer Run, Walk ‘n Roll, coordinated through the Us TOO International home office, the Wellness Place and with support from several local chapters.

The teams, individuals, coworkers, friends, and family members raised donations that help The Wellness Place and Us TOO’s efforts to support and educate the thousands of people touched by prostate cancer yearly.

Forming teams on the walk’s website, www.prostatecancerrunwalknroll.org, individuals told their stories, posted pictures, and exchanged emails, all in the effort of helping the thousands of men and their families touched by prostate cancer every year. Thanks to the work of teams like Jim’s Jaywalkers, Ted’s Troops, Dr. G!, Pam’s Pink Flower Power Rangers, “TNT”, Kirk’s Crew, Us TOO Warriors, and the Irish Brigade, the Second Annual Greater Chicago Prostate Cancer Run, Walk ‘n Roll was successful and provided Us TOO International with a strong foundation to improve on this success in years to come.
Since the program was established in 2002, more than 100,000 golfers have participated in Arnie’s Army Battles Prostate Cancer at more than 1,800 golf and country clubs across the country. In addition, the program has raised over one million dollars to support research by the Prostate Cancer Foundation (PCF). Arnold Palmer has lent his support to the program, serving as Honorary Chairman of the campaign.

Entering into the program’s fifth year, Arnie’s Army proudly became affiliated with Us TOO International. A percentage of all funds raised through Us TOO events will stay with Us TOO to be used to support chapter volunteers. As a program partner, Us TOO International becomes part of Arnie’s Army’s media efforts which reach over 6 million golfers and their families every month.

Sneakers@Work

In 2006, the Us TOO International Board of Directors said, “Yes” to Sneakers@Work Day. The program, created and administered by the American Prostate Cancer Initiative, was a natural fit for Us TOO International’s mission and grassroots efforts. It was unanimously adopted by the Us TOO International Board of directors to be launched on our website and promoted through our volunteer chapter network in 2007.

On June 15, 2007 Sneakers@Work aims to make millions of Americans aware that Prostate Cancer kills nearly as many men as breast cancer kills women. You know that the statistics are scary and now many more will know, too.

Since we know AWARENESS is key, EARLY DETECTION is best, ACTION is critical. Sneakers@Work Day is a sweeping cross-country workplace-based fundraising event just prior to Father’s Day, which will bring major attention to this devastating silent killer among men.

This groundbreaking launch of a new campaign is certain to become as large as the breast cancer awareness effort, Lee Denim Day. We expect that within a very short time, thousands of companies and their hundreds of thousands of employees will know that Prostate Cancer is the #2 cancer fatality for men, that 30,000 men will die of the disease this year, and that without public awareness Prostate Cancer will remain life threatening when it does not have to be.
Us TOO International Online Auction

The first Us TOO International Online Auction took place from May 20th to June 19th, 2006. It featured a website where participants could look at all the items up for bid, including a Hot Air Balloon Ride for 2, a 7-day/6-night trip to Kauai, Hawaii, and autographed items from the 2005 champion Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Steelers teams. Online items spanned a variety of price ranges to appeal to every budget. There were also several travel packages available as well, making the Us TOO International Online Auction a great way to schedule that vacation and support Us TOO at the same time.

Proceeds were used to create and expand Us TOO services earmarked for prostate cancer patients and their families.

The auction—held online using a software service called cMarket—was open and accepted bids for three weeks, ending the day after Father's Day. The auction opened with a catalog of 34 items for potential bidders. The website software allowed people to contribute items to the auction. By the time the auction closed, 52 new items were donated by generous individuals, Us TOO chapters, businesses and corporate supporters, for a total of 86 items for bidding consideration.

Special thanks to our TRUE BLUE auction sponsor Valera Pharmaceuticals and our BLUE RIBBON sponsor Endocare.

Us TOO International Participates in Combined Federal Campaign

For the first time ever, Us TOO International applied for, met the criteria for, and was accepted as a member of the Health Service Charities of America (HCSA). This allowed Us TOO to receive Combined Federal Campaign funds. HSCA represents human service charities in workplace fundraising drives, and has participated in the Combined Federal Campaign, individual state and municipal campaigns, and private sector corporate campaigns. All federal employees, including military personnel, participated in Combined Federal Campaigns held September through December, and could directly donate to Us TOO through a payroll deduction.

Us TOO Achieves National Health Council Standards of Excellence Compliance

Us TOO International, accepted as a member voluntary health agency (VHA) within the National Health Council in 2005, proudly achieved full compliance with the Council’s Standards of Excellence in September 2006.

Us TOO was recognized at the September Voluntary Health Agency Committee meeting for their efforts to adhere to the highest standards of transparency, accountability and ethical behavior. VHAs that meet the standards are entitled to use a special logo (left) acknowledging that fact on their printed materials and websites. The online version links to a special section of the Council’s website that lets visitors know that these VHAs have demonstrated superior results in achieving their missions and upholding the public trust. Through their adherence to these standards, the Council’s VHA members derive enormous credibility with constituents, donors and the general public.

The Council's Standards of Excellence cover the areas of governance, personnel policies, programs, fundraising, finance, accounting/reporting and evaluation. They are aligned with the standards of the Better Business Bureau/Wise Giving Alliance, a watchdog agency that donors rely on for information about worthy charities.

Charity Navigator

Us TOO International received notification that it received, for the second year in a row, Charity Navigator’s highest rating for sound fiscal management. Us TOO International received a rating of four out of a possible four stars. Only 12% of the organizations reviewed by Charity Navigator receive a four star rating two years in a row. Charity Navigator is an independent charity evaluator, and works to advance a more efficient and responsive philanthropic marketplace by evaluating the financial health of America's largest charities.

The Us TOO Chapter Revenue and Expenses are not part of the Us TOO International, Inc. financial audit conducted by John Kopczyk, Ltd., Certified Public Accountants. The majority of Us TOO chapters are small community groups that do not solicit or raise funds. Reporting information was received from 93 chapters reporting for the calendar year 2006 ending December 31, 2006. The groups in Houston and Boston reported revenues and expenses over required reporting levels.

The unaudited reports submitted by the chapters summarize the revenue and expense activity of their group. The compilation report was compiled from the 2 group’s reports and was combined into a report by the Us TOO staff for management reporting purposes and are listed above. The accounting practices of the local Chapter groups are not necessarily the same practices followed by the Us TOO International office.
